

Chinese and Cultural Awareness Seminar for Travelers to China

To help you prepare for your trip, The University of Akron's Workforce Development and Continuing Education is offering a 4-hour seminar on customs and culture in China. The seminar is offered four times for your convenience.

Explore the Exciting Wonders of China

Traveling abroad is an enriching and exciting experience. Preparing with basic information will help you enjoy your visit and know what to look for. This four-hour seminar provides an overview of Chinese culture, social customs, shopping and basic Chinese words/phrases. Your instructor is Dorina Shen, who was born in the Szechuan territory of China and teaches Basic Conversational Chinese (Mandarin) at The University of Akron. Handouts will be provided. Registration deadline for all sessions: March 1. No discounts apply.

Handouts will be provided and seminars will be held at the Akron Chamber offices:

Greater Akron Chamber
1 Cascade Plaza, 17th Floor
Akron, Ohio 44308-1192

Register now for one of the following sessions:

$49	Saturday, March 6	Course # 15298	8-Noon
		Course # 15299	1-5 p.m.
$49	Saturday, March 20	Course # 15300	8-Noon
		Course # 15301	1-5 p.m.

To register, call The University of Akron, Workforce Development and Continuing Education, at 330-972-7577, or visit www.uakron.edu/ce. The University of Akron –not the Greater Akron Chamber- will handle all class registration, names and payments.

Note: The classes are designed around the culture, language, customs, courtesies and economics of China; they are NOT instructional classes regarding the logistics of your April 2010 China Trip.
